

Brian Cresap

Vice President of Construction

A valued member of the W. L. Butler team since 2018, Brian Cresap oversees all project and team operations for the Southern California region. He is responsible for business development, project and personnel management and cost estimating.

With 20+ years of construction related experience focused on finance and operations, Brian has a proven track record of developing and implementing sound financial and strategic initiatives. In addition to his industry experience, Brian has a Bachelor of Science degree in Accounting from Loyola Marymount University and a Masters' degree in Business Administration from Chapman University.

Outgoing and professional, Brian looks forward to furthering his career successes and developing future business opportunities for the W. L. Butler organization.

Brian Cresap
Vice President of Construction

 marketing@wlbutler.com

 linkedin.com/in/briancresap/

 (949) 587-2200

“When you regularly meet people who have worked for W. L. Butler in the past and they tell you how great their experience was, you know you have found a special group of people. It was an easy decision to join the team and become a part of something bigger than any one individual. That is what makes W. L. Butler a great company.”